Abstract

This article shows the actual problem of teaching Russian as a foreign language, and also specifies The Russian culture and how Indians are experiencing about the language.

This article also shows the different network cooperation's of Russia.

Keywords: the international cooperation, Russian as a foreign language, education export, foreign language, and network forms of cooperation, Russian in India.

In today's competitive world, we all know the role and importance of learning any foreign language. When someone decides to learn any other language, this means they want to explore the different culture and business. The desire and aspiration of learning any foreign languages can be connected with those people who would like to do something out of their comfort zone, and wants to prove themselves in this competitive world, As we all know that how important it is in today's competitive world of learning any foreign language in terms of career and business.

Russian is considered as one of the most difficult languages in the world and in Russia the trend of learning any foreign language is considerably changed because of the increasing demand of different foreign language in the Russian market. Before, it was not easy to learn any other language in Russia, but now due to the Globalization and other easy resources available, it becomes very easy for Russians to learn other languages, for example, with the help of the internet, you can easily connect yourself with any foreign speaker in the world and there are lots of courses and tutors available online.

After Signing the Strategic partnership with the Scientific and Technological development of the country by the Honorable President with the special message on focusing more towards the digital economy, however the concept was new to Russia [1]. Skolkovo business school already developed the first and second edition of the atlas of the professions which will receive relevance by 2025.

According to the CEO of the Vordskills R. Urazov, in Russia, the profession became outdated. The atlas contains competences which will be actual: "in the Atlas critical competences and critical abilities which will be necessary in the future, regardless of in what you actually want to be engaged are marked out. Which key set will allow to become the professional in any branches" [2].

In today's business world, if any business does not adopt the changes according to the business environment, they will definitely lose. And therefore, the business leader who possesses the competences of the future, allowing to be integrated into world space already today will be demanded, from which the knowledge of a foreign language is key.

Russian language is one of the most known language in the world and through this, it becomes easy for any international to know more about the culture and tradition of the country and it's people, defining its originality and viability, but also has huge value for a world civilization as is one of the top of the world languages and the most important tool of knowledge other people of the humanistic values of the Russian culture, history, science and education. The intellectuals of India to the middle of the XX century got acquainted with the achievements of the Russian culture through a prism of English translations. But development of the Soviet-Indian relations caused the sharp change of the relations to Russian philology. Along with technologies and new scientific knowledge, there was a strengthening of positions of Russian and culture and got the status of a means of communication in the environment of engineering elite. In 1946 at the Delhi University, it was the first time when Russian language was introduced for the teaching and a year later, profile of linguistic chair opened. After 1947, Delhi University opened specialized courses Alaskhabadsky in 1958, Ottoman and in 1964, Punsy Universities [2]

We all know that from past 70 years, India and Russia shares a very good bonding in every field and India is the traditional, long-term partner of Russia. Indians learn Russian language not only to receive additional professional competencies, whether; it is more for the opportunity to conduct business negotiations with the Russian partners. At the same time, it should be noted that universities from both the countries should start an exchange of learning language also.

In January 2018, a conference held in the New Delhi during the passing of the largest scientific conference in the Southern Asia "Raysin's Dialogue" this question was raised (Raisina Dialogue) for discussions held on the same issue. [3]. Similar conferences were held in 2016 by the research center Observer Research Foundation with assistance of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of India which is one of the strongest among the largest scientific events of the whole world, not just in Asia. The list of participants was from the 86 countries of the world which includes as diplomats, politicians, military, the leading international experts, and members of the media. This meeting also showed, the increased attentiveness of India to policy of Russia.

In preservation and strengthening of positions of Russians and the Russian culture in the world, the Russian people who are living abroad are also promoting the Russian culture and language. A variety of forms and methods distinguish all the similar held events. So, the Institute of Russian at RTsNK in New Delhi regularly for school and university students holds the Olympic Games on Russian, quizzes on regional geography, are also held competitions of readers of poems of the Russian poets, literary essays, drawings illustrations to known Russian works. In RTsNK the Days of Russian, literature and culture which became, in essence, a traditional annual festival, which collects hundreds of participants, are very popular in New Delhi. It is difficult to overestimate the value of all these actions. They encourage the youth learning Russian, support teachers specialists in Russian philology, keeping Russian positions as means of the international communication.
